Everything is Illuminated
On Nov. 21, from 7 pm to 11 pm, the Richmond Park will be the site of a light festival. The festival's goal is to illuminate the festival grounds with art and performance.

Rants That Draw Raves
Comedy has an inflexible principal: he will be doubled over in laughter when Channing Moore's writing about us is read. It's not because he's counted among the comedy to Richmond.

Greetings, again!

Just this morning, Richmond City Councilman Jon Balles and painter-about-town Ed Trask announced the downtown Manchester district as the location of next year's RVA Street Art Festival, which they created several years ago. The centerpiece of the festival will be the former Southern States grain silo complex near the floodwall. A little-known fact on this topic: Our mag has its own street-art aficionado in senior art director Justin Vaughan, and earlier this year, he offered his Top 5 picks for city murals worthy of a drive-by.
